

3. Production-Management Contract

Purpose:

This contract specifies the terms under which a production manager (or company) oversees the farmer's activities to ensure the crops are grown to specific standards, often for large-scale farming or contract production for a business.

Key Components:

- Parties Involved: The farmer and the production manager (could be a company or agricultural expert).
- Production Process: Describes the stages of production and what role each party plays.
- Compensation: The production manager is often compensated either by a fixed fee or a percentage of the crop yield.
- Manager's Responsibilities: Overseeing the crop cultivation and ensuring resources are being used properly.

Example:

A farmer hires a production manager to supervise the cultivation of soybeans on 50 hectares. The manager is paid 10% of the revenue from the harvested crop.

This agreement is made between the undersigned parties:
